

Trinity College
Broad Street, Oxford OX1 3BH, England

From the Dean, Professor Alexander M. Korsunsky MA DPhil CPhys MinstP
Tel. (01865) 279878, 273043

16 November 2006

Apology of Socrates
Performance by Yannis Simonides

Dear Mr Simonides

Having learnt of your performance of 'Apology of Socrates' from a friend, I became interested in the possibility of inviting you to present it at Oxford. Unfortunately, no suitable auditorium is available at Trinity College. Consequently, I made enquiries with colleagues, and found interest amongst academics and students alike.

Trinity College cannot provide financial support for your visit, so you will have to cover all your own expenses. However, once the likely date of your visit becomes known, I shall be happy to look into the possibility of finding an auditorium elsewhere in Oxford free of charge under the auspices of the Oxford University Classical Drama Society.

I very much hope that you will be able to visit Oxford during your tour of the UK, and give the performance of 'Apology of Socrates' here.

With kind regards,

Alexander Korsunsky